

What is your job title and where are you located? (please do not DM)

Went to the store to buy some groceries and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company." I went to the store and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company." I went to the store and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company."

Company Website

Received a surprise email from the company saying they were interested in my application. I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company." I went to the store and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company."

Target,

Went to the store to buy some groceries and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company." I went to the store and I saw a sign that said "We're hiring!" I was like, "Well, I'm not really looking for a job right now, but I'm interested in learning more about the company."

